DAY ELEVEN - UNIMAGINABLE (JOSHUA)

You are a thrill seeker to your core. You relish all that is new. You are not impressed by that which has already been explored. You love the feelings available here on Earth. It is something quite different indeed. In this Earth reality, which is unlike most other physical realms, you create with feeling. There is nothing like the feeling of something that has never been experienced before.

Have you noticed that the human race is made up of intrepid explorers, inventors, artists, thinkers, and adventurers? You are not designed to conform or to hide. You get bored easily. You find routine stale. The fascination with life is always in the new discoveries, new ideas, new places, new people and new adventures.

If you have ever started a business, you probably found that the experience was most enjoyable at the beginning. Once the business took off, it became a routine. Wasn't it intoxicating when you met your first love? The first time you went to Disney World or traveled to another country was an exciting time. What did you feel like when you got your first car? These are the experiences you came for.

There is an aspect of this reality that few are aware of. There is still much to be discovered. There's an approach to life that will bring forth unimaginable experiences and fill you with delight. The things you want are really not as important as you think. They will all lose their luster in a very short time. This is the interesting thing about everything that is new. The moment is fleeting and the emotion wears off. If you are wanting to manifest something because you think it will give you the feeling you lack, it might for a little while, but soon the feeling wears off and you'll need to manifest something else.

This life you are living has been designed to allow for the creation of that which cannot be created in the nonphysical or really anywhere else. It is a unique environment filled with those powerful and eternal beings of love, like you, who understand the value of discovery. With each new experience, you expand. This is true. But most of your experiences are rather similar to those you've had before.

DAY ELEVEN - UNIMAGINABLE (JOSHUA)

The feeling isn't quite as exciting or delightful. It's just another version of the same old thing. To truly live in this reality as you intended, the expansion you desire comes from those occasions where you have a powerful emotional response due to an event that you have never been present for before.

The unimaginable has always existed in this reality. Each new discovery had an affect on all who were aware of it. It was thrilling. The wonders of this world never cease to amaze. You might believe that everything has already been discovered, but you have only scratched the surface.

You have had many unimaginable experiences. You've witnessed unexplainable phenomena. You've been led into situations that made absolutely no sense to you. And you've tried to explain them all away. "There must be some reason for this," you thought at the time. It couldn't have been real. It must have been your imagination. But none of these events could have been imagined by you. You could not plan for them, pay for them, or set goals to experience them. These occurrences have always been at the very heart of this human experience. This is what you actually came for. You very much wanted to witness something truly novel as it was brought into this reality.

Just imagine if you will that life in all other physical realms is made up of physical and intelligent beings who operate within a collective consciousness. You might have to stretch your belief system a bit. But if you can understand how this Earth environment is quite unique, you'll gain a very high perspective. In a collective consciousness without the intense variety of fear you feel, and without a highly refined and personalized perspective of an individual, the collective generally births desires through unified thought and frequency. As you might imagine, most of their creations are similar to past ones.

Every fear that exists on Earth emerges from the illusion of separation. A collective consciousness feels no separation and therefore does not have the intensity of fear that humans experience. To make it a little easier to understand, think of fear as simply lack of information. Think of love as complete information or knowing. When you don't know, you feel fear, but when you know, you feel love. We will explain this concept in more detail as we proceed, but for now it may be helpful to understand fear as a lack of information.

When you do not know something and it causes you fear, it does not feel good to you. Imagine jumping out of an airplane. At first, you do not know if the parachute is going to open or not and so you feel a bit of anxiety, which you would call a negative feeling. It's not actually a negative feeling and soon you'll understand what we mean.

DAY ELEVEN - UNIMAGINABLE (JOSHUA)

As soon as you pull the ripcord and the parachute is deployed, you immediately experience the wonderful feeling of relief. Now imagine the very first time anyone ever tried jumping out of an airplane with a parachute. They had no idea if the chute would actually open or not. This was something new. Can you imagine the intense feeling of fear and then the equally intense feeling of relief when the parachute did open? This illustrates the difference between a new experience and one that's been had many times before.

With the new experience, the feelings are more intense, because there is less information. If the experience has never been had by anyone before, the experience is unimaginable. This is the pinnacle of feeling in this reality. To come from no knowledge of something and then experience it is truly special. This is why young children are often in a state of surprise and delight. Everything they experience is new to them.

If you live a life of routine, you are not really experiencing life as you intended. You are not doing anything wrong, but this life is one of discovery and you are a great explorer. Why aren't you constantly having wonderful new experiences? Well, we would suggest that there is something standing in your way. There is an aspect of you that causes you to play it a bit safe and hide from anything new. You have a mental construct and this is a collection of...

BELIEFS
